Made with Lpdf

A heading with a break

A newline alone is a space: this line is long enough to wrap on to a second line, and the line that follows it in the source runs on from the end of it, in the same paragraph.

The first line ends in two spaces and the second begins after them.

The first line ends in a backslash
and the second begins after it.

The first line ends in a br
and the second begins after it.

One
two three four five six

A strong run that breaks and keeps its weight

Two breaks in a row
make one break.

- An item that breaks
  on a second line
- [ ] A task that breaks
  on a second line
- A plain item

> A quote that breaks
> on a second line, with the bar beside both.

Package	Note
Engine `@lpdf/core`	stable 2.4.0
CLI `@lpdf/cli`	stable 2.4.0