1. Welcome

This handbook says how we work together, and where to turn when it doesn't say.

Our story

We started as four people in a rented room, and we still work as a small team does.

Our values

Say what you mean, finish what you start, and leave the work better than you found it.

Lpdf

2. Getting started

Your first week is for meeting the team and setting up, not for shipping.

Your first day

Your manager meets you at the door at nine and walks you through the day.

Accounts and access

Your accounts are ready before you arrive; the help desk resets anything that isn't.

Lpdf

3. Working hours

We keep a few hours in common and leave the rest of the day to you.

Core hours

Be reachable from ten to three, in your own time zone.

Time off

Book leave in the calendar two weeks ahead, and tell your team the same day.

Lpdf

4. Pay and benefits

Pay and cover are the same for every role at the same level.

Payroll

Salaries are paid on the last working day of each month.

Health cover

Cover starts on your first day and includes your family.

Lpdf

5. Travel

Travel when meeting in person changes the outcome, and not otherwise.

Booking

Book through the travel desk so that we know where you are.

Expenses

Claim within a month, with a photo of each receipt.

Lpdf

6. Equipment

You choose the tools you work with, within a budget for each.

Laptops

A laptop is replaced every three years, or sooner when it fails.

Phones

A work phone is yours to ask for when you are on call.

Lpdf

7. Security

Everyone keeps the company safe, not only the security team.

Passwords

Use the password manager and a security key for every account that takes one.

Reporting an incident

Report anything odd at once; a false alarm costs nothing.

Lpdf

8. Communication

Write it down, so that the people who weren't there can read it.

Meetings

A meeting has an agenda, ends on time, and leaves notes.

Writing well

Lead with the point, keep it short, and say what you need from the reader.

Lpdf

9. Learning

A day a month is set aside for learning something new.

Courses

Pick any course that helps your work; we pay for it.

Mentoring

Ask anyone to mentor you; most people say yes.

Lpdf

10. Health and safety

Look after yourself first; the work can wait.

At the office

Fire exits are marked in green, and the first aid kit is by the kitchen.

Working from home

We pay for a desk and a chair that suit you.

Lpdf

11. Conduct

Treat everyone as you would want to be treated.

Respect at work

Disagree with ideas, never with people.

Raising a concern

Talk to your manager, to people operations, or to the confidential line.

Lpdf

12. Leaving

When you move on, we want you to leave on good terms.

Notice

Give a month's notice, or what your contract says.

Handing over

Write down what only you know before your last day.
